New jail remains unfurnished, hospital furniture may be used

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has not yet solved the problem of how to furnish the new Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility which is scheduled for completion in early 1987.

The board has informally agreed with Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson that the jail can probably be furnished with desks, chairs, tables and other items from Hancock General Hospital.

The hospital is scheduled to move into new facilities, Hancock Medical Center, which will have new furniture. The medical center is currently under construction.

While the board has not determined what will be done with the Hancock General Hospital building, the furniture can be turned over to the sheriff's department, Beat Four Supervisor Sam Perniclaro said.

The price of the furniture for Hancock Medical Center was included in a bond issue being used to pay for that facility.

The cost of the jail furniture was apparently not included in the $2.5 million bond issue paying for that project, Board Attorney Gerald Gex and Chancery Clerk Michael Nicaise said.

That bond issue was designated as generating funds to "construct and equip" a new jail and did not specifically mention furniture.

Gex said he has interpreted the bond issue documents to mean that prisoner bunks and other items for the cells are included under the term "equipment" but furniture for public areas is not.

He had originally expected to have to obtain a state attorney general's opinion to find out if the furniture could be purchased with interest money from the bond issue, although Nicaise contended that the interest was already earmarked for use as part of the bond issue payments.

After the sheriff supplies the board with a list of the items needed, the county's usual bidding procedures can be used if there are any pieces of furniture that can not be supplied from the hospital building, Board President A.A. Kellar added.

The board turned down a proposal by jail architect Fred Wagner, who had offered his firm's services in selecting furniture compatible with the building in design and color for a fee of 10 percent of the total cost of the furniture selected.

The furniture, however, is not Peterson's only problem.

"We're going to have to adequately staff that place," the sheriff said.

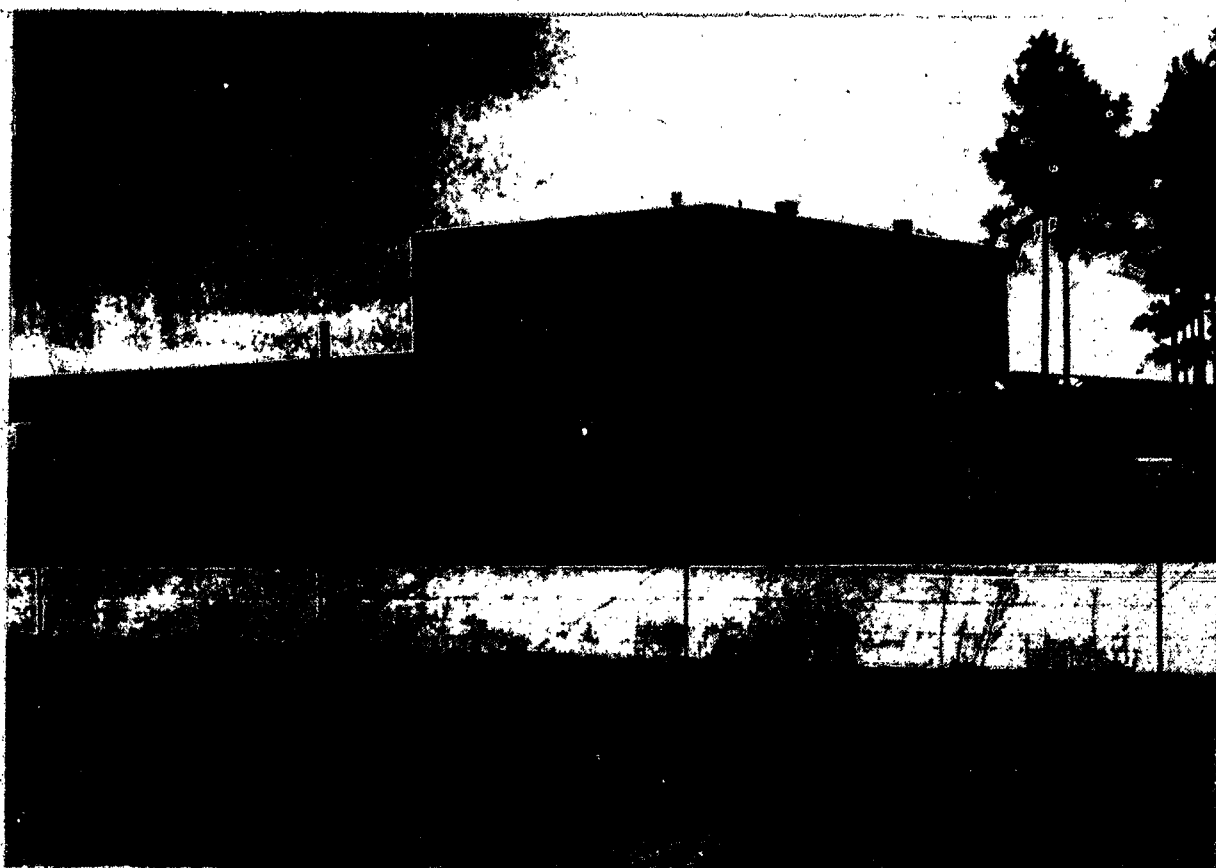

"At a minimum, and we're talking absolute minimum here, we can get by with two jailers at one time and we will definitely need a jail warden to take care of the place."

"You're going to have the whole top floor of the building and you can't expect one man to watch 75 prisoners."

Peterson said the matter was actually not supposed to be brought before the board until January, but the jail is expected to be ready for occupancy in January or early February.

The sheriff said about five additional people will be needed and his department's budget will have to be amended to pay for the new employees.

The board meets again at 9 a.m. on Dec. 15.

VCJ gymnasium to get new floor

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Improvements are underway at the Valena C. Jones gymnasium.

Workers began last week ripping up the old and rotted wooden floor in the first step of planned improvements to enable the gym to be utilized more fully by Bay St. Louis residents.

Immediate plans for improvements include the installation of a new multi-purpose floor, according to Bay St. Louis Mayor Victor J. Frankiewicz Jr.

"We hope to install an all purpose floor so the gymnasium can be used not only for recreational activities, but also for other large functions including dances, dinners and performing arts exhibitions," he said.

There is currently no facility in Bay St. Louis which offers everything that will be offered in the VCJ gym including the large floor area, a stage and fixed seating, Frankiewicz continued.

Other improvement plans include painting the entire gymnasium, installation of ventilation equipment and emergency lights.

Frankiewicz said city officials are planning improvements to accommodate the installation of air conditioning but do not believe this will be included in the immediate repairs.

"We are also planning to improve the areas immediately off the gym floor for possible use as vending and concession facilities," he added.

In the past a classroom across the hall from the gym has been used for this purpose but this will be a more feasible area and will also more effectively utilized the area under the bleachers, Frankiewicz said.

Kingdom Construction Company is in charge of removing the old floor which was unsafe for use in heavy traffic areas particularly around basketball goals and on the base line.

Project Director Gordon Boh said except for the heavy use areas most of the oak flooring was still in good shape.

This wood will be sold to finance the cost of the removal and installation of the new floor.

For information on purchasing the 2 3/4 tongue-and-groove oak wood contact, Steve Blanton, 467-1417.

Bay St. Louis city officials plan to replace the wooden floor with a new multi-use type flooring to allow greater usage of the gymnasium. (Staff photo by Brenda Heathcock)

Engineer's request reopens pier site ownership question

BY DENA BISNETTE

A request from an engineer for a map showing a county road right-of-way at the site of a proposed public pier in Pearlinton has again brought up the question of who owns the site.

County Engineer Larry Seal asked for a plat or map showing the county's easement for Monroe Street Monday and was told that the pier will have to be designed for construction at the end of the road right-of-way.

Board President A.A. Kellar, who has been trying for several years to have a public pier and other recreation facilities built at the site, said the county clearly owns the land in the easement.

The county also owns the remainder of the 1.2-acre site, but records indicating that ownership are not available.

According to Board Attorney Gerald Gex, many of the original ownership records were lost when the courthouse at Gainesville burned in 1863.

He said later records were compiled several years ago when the project was initially brought up before the board and may provide the information that will be needed.

A search of some minutes from the 1860s and 1870s during a recess in Monday's meeting did not provide the needed information. In one case, the matter was indexed but there was no notation in the minutes regarding the property.

Funding has been obtained and the county still has about six months on permits from Bureau of Marine Resources and U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, according to Jeff Taylor of South Mississippi Planning and Development District.

Taylor, who is assisting with the project, said extensions of the permits could probably be obtained.

Funding through a matching grant is already available as well, he added.

The proposal for the project also includes a picnic area, boat launch and tie-ups for shrimp and oyster boats. The additional facilities are expected to be added in later parts of the project, Kellar said.

In other business Monday, the board:

—Agreed to advertise for bids on annually purchased supplies;

—Approved Beat Four Supervisor Sam Perniclaro's appointment of Omer DeBever, a retired engineer and Bay St. Louis resident, to the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission for the year remaining on the unexpired term of Jerry Seuzeneau, who recently resigned;

—Reappointed Eugene Luman to the Hancock County Mosquito Control Commission;

—Authorized County Road Maintenance Superintendent Bill Johnson to make spare equipment parts purchases of $1,000 or less without prior approval from the board;

—Provided authorization for the Hancock County Tax Collector and Assessor's offices to remain open a half-day on Saturdays after Dec. 15 and to add three part-time employees during peak collection season;

—Authorized County Engineer Larry Seal to prepare plans and specifications for correction of traffic problems in a traffic circle off the county road through Diamondhead; and —Heard a request from two Longfellow Drive residents for a turning bay on Highway 603 at Longfellow.

The board meets again Dec. 15.

residents have installed posts, fences, ropes, and other devices to keep the public from parking along their property.

Some of these barriers are actually in the road easement, which is county property and varies in width from 17 feet to 33 feet as measured from the center line of the road.

The supervisors requested last week that County Engineer Larry Seal stake the right-of-way in order to determine which barriers are on county property and which are on private property.

Waveland has no enforcement authority in the matter because the easement is county property, but Perniclaro has said that the county's beachfront maintenance crew will eventually remove the barriers if the owners can or will not do so.

special charter requires each candidate to have one vote whether or not there is opposition, were certified earlier Tuesday. Vote totals were low and included Long, 38; Rappold, 13; Hubbard, 9; Sencosky, 8; and Yarbrough, 17. All were unopposed. Following the swearing-in ceremony, salaries were set at $900 per month for the mayor and $300 per month for each alderman. (Staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

Flu shots recommended

The A/Taiwan/1/86 Flu vaccine is being recommended for people under the age of 35 and especially for those with chronic heart and lung diseases.

It is felt by health officials that many people 35 years and older are likely to have natural protection against this particular virus because they were exposed to similar viruses that were around in the late 1940's and early 1950's.

Children and young adults under 35 years of age are more likely to be susceptible to the new flu. The hours of service for this is Monday and Thursday, 8 to 11:30 a.m. and 1 to 4:30 p.m.

IRS trying to return $296,604.95 to Mississippi taxpayers

JACKSON—The IRS is trying to give $296,604.95 back to Mississippians who paid too much in 1985 federal income taxes. But, the post office has sent the 666 checks back to the IRS marked "undeliverable!" The average amount of checks now waiting at the IRS for their owners is $388.

"The refunds range from a dollar twenty-one cents to a whopping $15,687," said Tully Miller, Jackson District director of the IRS.

"From tax years 1978 through 1985, undelivered refunds from 808 Mississippi federal income tax filers total $296,604," Miller added. Refund checks for years 1978 through 1984 range from $1.29 to $4,341. The average refund check for those years is $265.

"I'll tell you this," Miller quipped, "If I had nearly $400 coming back to me from Uncle Sam, and especially if I was waiting for $4,000 or $15,000, I'd surely let the IRS know my correct mailing address!"

The IRS' Atlanta Service Center issues federal tax refund checks to Mississippians as soon as tax returns are processed. They are mailed to the address the taxpayer puts on the return, usually in 4-6 weeks after initial receipt at the service center. Each year, according to Miller, some checks are undeliverable for many reasons and are returned to the IRS.

"Often the address is incorrect, sometimes the taxpayer has moved without notifying the post office of a forwarding address, or maybe the forwarding order a taxpayer left at the post office has expired," Miller explained.

Taxpayers who did not receive their refund checks should call the IRS on the toll-free telephone line at 1-800-424-1040 to make arrangements for the checks to be mailed to them at their correct address.

Miller said the checks must be reissued and mailed to the owners of the refunds only after the IRS has been contacted by telephone. He stressed that NO checks would be available for personal pick-up.

The Atlanta Service Center has 15,157 undelivered refund checks which total $7,097,962.02. The center services five states in the Southeastern United States. The center issued over 664,000 refunds to Mississippians in 1985; 938,000 Mississippians filed federal income tax returns. The average refund to Mississippians was slightly over $700.

Six injured in army ammo plant explosion

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Six workers in a Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant forge room at National Space Technology Laboratories were injured Monday in an explosion and flash fire.

Jack Hively of Bay St. Louis, Mike Whitfield of Picayune and Ransom Gibson of Gulfport are reported in good condition in the burn unit of the West Jefferson Medical Center where they were taken following the accident.

All three patients are listed in stable condition, a medical center spokesman reported late Wednesday.

With mostly facial and chest injuries, latest reports indicate that Gibson was burned on 26 percent of his body, Hively on 30 percent and Whitfield on 36 percent.

Three others Arthur Jones of Poplarville, Lionel Gutierrez and Richard Treat, both of Picayune were treated and released at the Sidel Memorial Hospital Monday.

The explosion was caused by an accumulation of propane gas in the pit area of the forge room in the Projectile Metal Parts Building, according to Capt. Jason Annitto, executive officer at the plant.

A leak occurred during forging operations and heat from the process is believed to have set the fire, he added.

Annitto said the fire was put out within seconds of ignition by automatic fire extinguishers.

No estimate is available on the damage to the forge room, however there is no outwardly visible sign of the explosion at the plant.

Annitto said 35 personnel work in the forge room but only those in the immediate area of the forge were injured.

When the explosion occurred all 325 employees in the building were evacuated. All except the forge room employees were back in operation later that day.

An investigation board began Tuesday to examine the area for the cause of the accident.

Annitto said there is no connection between Monday's accident and an August explosion in another building.

There were no injuries in the August explosion.

Bay council to meet with franchise owners

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
The Bay St. Louis City Council will meet next week with Essex Cable TV franchise owners.

Tuesday in their regular meeting, the council voted to meet with franchise owners to discuss a requested reassignment of the franchise.

The council will meet with Essex people Tuesday at 5:30 p.m. at the city hall.

Also during this week's meeting, the council approved a $300 expenditure for a shop at home campaign for Christmas.

Circuit Clerk Edward Favre said some advertising is being planned to try and encourage people to shop locally during the holiday season.

In other business the board:

—Approved a final payment of $1,339 to Weatherly General Contractors for work on the porch at city hall contingent on the completion of minor items.

—Approved two payments of $3,750 to Gulf Regional Planning Commission for work on the beachfront study. The city will be reimbursed for 80 percent of the expenditure from grant funds designated for the study.

—Renewed a lease with St. Stanislaus College for Commagere Park. The five-year lease cost the city $1 per year.

—Voted 3-2 to grant a commercial single use permit, for Dr. James Crittendon. However the motion failed because a 4-1 vote was needed since a petition had been presented against the zoning change.

Doll and Toy Fund helps many children

Christmas 1986 will look a lot brighter to hundreds of boys and girls in this area because of the Hancock County Doll and Toy Fund.

The Doll and Toy Fund is an agency of the Hancock County United Way with Bay Fire Chief Andrew Lizana as director.

The Doll and Toy Fund distributed toys to 702 boys and girls for Christmas 1985.

This Christmas will probably mean more children in need, as Chief Lizana already has 569 names of deserving children.

The Doll and Toy Fund also receives donations from individuals and businesses, in addition to many toys donated by parents whose children have outgrown them.

Firefighters recondition the toys and receive help from several senior volunteers who work on dolls.

Chief Lizana receives special prices from local merchants on many of the toys.

A complete file is kept on each deserving child, such as age, sex and size.

It is a very big job to prepare for more than 700 children and a lot of Chief Lizana's time in the month of December is dedicated to the Doll and Toy Fund.

The Doll and Toy Fund receives help in toy distribution from the Hancock County Sheriff's Department, Bay St. Louis and Waveland Police Departments and Hancock County firefighters.

If you can help the Doll and Toy Fund in any way—your help will be greatly appreciated.

The Bay St. Louis Fire Department is located at the corner of Bookter Street and Old Spanish Trail.

The annual program sponsored by the Bay St. Louis Fire Department provides new and repaired Christmas toys to hundreds of needy children in Hancock County.

Lizana said in addition to toys received the 1985 project also received $3,325 in cash donations which enabled nearly 600 area youth to be presented toys with an average cost per child was less than $5. He said he would be contacting past contributors to the fund soon for donations for the 1986 project. (Staff photo by Brenda Heathcock)

JACKSON—Anyone who is taking lightly the chances of State Auditor Ray Mabus being elected Mississippi's next governor is making a serious mistake, in the opinion of this columnist.

Mabus has not even announced he is a candidate for governor in 1987. But at this point, he is the best organized prospective gubernatorial candidate on the block.

As of last week, there was no doubt in this writer's mind that Mabus is running for the Democratic nomination for governor, regardless of whoever may run.

That makes him somewhat different than perhaps almost every other possible candidate, at least on the Democratic side. The rest are standing back waiting for Gov. Bill Allain to make up his mind. Mabus isn't. He'll run Allain notwithstanding.

Mabus has been going around to movers and shakers, business types and others across the state recently convincing them that he is a "definite" candidate for governor.

That's what is foolish about Mississippi politics. Why don't people who are busting a gut to gather support and financing to run for governor just come on out and say they are a candidate, and stop beating around the bush?

This, of course, does raise a serious question as to whether or not someone like Mabus (and there are undoubtedly several others) who have actually begun raising money for a gubernatorial race should have to start filing contribution reports to the Secretary of State from the time they begin getting commitments, instead of after they formally announce.

Understandably, Mabus or anyone else who figures to become a major candidate in 1987 couldn't even entertain the idea without lining up financial backing months in advance of the primaries.

This is even more so now that the incumbent governor can also run, and he could be figured to have many of the potential heavy money sources already nailed down.

From the feedback I have been getting on Mabus' movements, it appears that the 36-year old State Auditor is getting excellent backing from top drawer business and professional circles who would normally be expected to stay neutral until they can see who else is going to be on the playing field.

There have been everything from post cocktail parties in Manhattan to private dinners in Jackson with a New Orleans French chef flown in for the occasion in behalf of Mabus' gubernatorial candidacy.

You might deduce that the Harvard-educated Mabus is seeking to only be the candidate of the upper crust. Not so. However, Mabus is shrewd enough to know where the money is to run a high-tech campaign of the type he plans.

Why no politician can discount Mabus is that evidently a heck of a lot of Mississippians out at the fork of the creek glory in the spunk Mabus has shown as auditor, chasing after them supervisors and such, and they want to see him governor.

That may be perhaps a rosier picture than some would paint, particularly when it is a fact that Mabus also is despised around the county courthouses. Even though the county polls have lost some clout they can be a mean bunch to be after you in any political campaign.

Mabus is closing one loophole in his arsenal of campaign weapons by abandoning bachelorhood early next year. He recently let it be known to a circle of friends that he has become engaged to a lovely Jackson lady and plans to get married in January.

Tradition dictated for many years that Mississippians didn't just elect a governor, but a "first lady" as well. However, that tradition was junked when Bill Allain was elected, sans wife, and the mansion has not had a "first lady" for the past three years.

Mabus could stumble if he is not able to win his celebrated case against Rankin County Chancery Clerk Irl Dean Rhodes, who is perhaps the personification of all the entrenched, powerful, greedy county politicians in the state.

When Mabus took on Rhodes, he took on the entire political machinery of Rankin County, which heretofore has seemed impervious to allegations of misconduct.

His staff made one costly error in the grand jury stage of the auditor's case against Rhodes, and the cunning Rankin County apparatus was quick to pounce on it. Consequently, Mabus may be knocked out of the box before his side gets a turn at bat.

Mabus is planning to conduct a poll in another month or so to verify his decision to make the race for governor.

There's still time, of course, for him to change his mind and keep the post he won in a major upset in 1983.

But the chances he will take the latter alternative now seem slim or none.

Weekly Editorial

From Mississippi Economic Council

COST OF DOING NOTHING ON HIGHWAYS IS TOO GREAT

Mississippi's poor highway system is a barrier to the state's economic advancement. There seems to be little question about that.

Highways across northeast Mississippi are jammed with heavy transport trucks feeling their way across cluttered, narrow two-lane highways from the more than two-hundred furniture manufacturing plants, and other manufacturing facilities in the area.

Agricultural and manufactured products move slowly along dangerous two-lane systems snaking through the Delta.

Traffic through southwest Mississippi is often stacked along stretches of two-lane highways which need two additional lanes. And the eastern edge of the state is suffering similar transportation pains.

There is an answer. The chairman of the Highways Committee of the Mississippi House of Representatives has developed a plan for an expansive highway construction program, assuring Mississippians of more than 900 miles of four-lane highways, and, at the same time, assuring that the new highways would be built on the basis of priority needs, with traffic counts and volumes dictating the construction schedule.

Such a system would open Mississippi to new and unequalled economic expansion.

But there is a price to be paid. The legislative chairman, Representative John Pannebaker of New Albany, suggests that such a plan would cost highway users from three- to five-cents-per-gallon additional tax on motor fuels.

The Mississippi Economic Council has examined the Pannebaker plan. It has measured the costs of the proposed highway construction against the economic costs of doing nothing.

The cost of doing nothing, the council reasons, is too great. In the name of economic advancement and in the name of improving living for all Mississippians, Mississippi must improve its highway system.

Mississippians will want to give support to the plan devised by Representative Pannebaker and the members of his committee.

Critical problems facing business in this state—port reform, highways, and higher education—will be addressed in regional meetings across Mississippi this month.

The Mississippi Economic Council, the state's largest organization of business, industrial and professional leaders, is sponsoring the eight legislative issue sessions.

The meetings will include an overview on each issue by state business leaders, MEC's recommendations for legislative action, and a question and answer session.

The public is invited. There is no charge for admission.

A breakdown of the major receipts follows:

For Christmas tree growers

Tax reform offers long-term benefits, short-term headaches

By Jimmy Bonner and Tyson Gair
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

MISSISSIPPI STATE—A state forestry official says a provision of the tax reform act passed by Congress earlier this year could benefit Christmas tree growers in Mississippi and the South over the next several years.

But the same provision could produce a glut of Christmas trees in southern markets this Christmas, said Dr. Bob Parker, executive secretary of the Louisiana-Mississippi Christmas Tree Association.

The potential oversupply could result from a change in the capital gains provision of the tax reform act. The change may encourage some northern producers to liquidate Christmas tree farms this year to take advantage of existing tax laws.

"The capital gains change could produce a glut of trees this Christmas and cause a problem in the marketplace," Parker said. "We haven't seen any direct effect yet, but we could in the next few weeks."

The capital gains provision, which farmers and businesses have long used to reduce tax liability, is scheduled for elimination on Jan. 1, 1987. Sales of farm products and other property that qualify for capital gains will be taxed as ordinary income after that date. Under current law, 60 percent of the gain from sales is excluded from taxes.

Parker said northern Christmas tree growers will be impacted more by the capital gains elimination because Christmas trees must be at least six years old before harvesting to qualify for capital gains. Northern trees take eight to 12 years to mature, while Mississippi trees take only three to four years.

"Southern Christmas tree growers never could take advantage of the capital gains provision," Parker said. "The change should have a positive impact on Christmas tree growers in Mississippi and the South over the next several years."

Parker said Christmas tree acreage in Mississippi isn't likely to increase dramatically from the change, but the long-term impact is favorable since state growers compete with northern producers for available markets.

About 300 Christmas tree farmers in Mississippi are members of the Louisiana-Mississippi Christmas Tree Association, Parker said.

Many others in the state produce Christmas trees primarily as a hobby.

Mississippi Christmas tree growers sell about 250,000 trees annually, Parker said.

Bob Daniels, a forestry utilization specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, said most growers in Mississippi manage a choose-and-cut operation where the customer selects and harvests his own tree.

"This has become a very popular way for Mississippians to get their Christmas trees," Daniels said. "It's a family outing for a lot of people."

A typical grower in Mississippi produces five to seven acres of Christmas trees, Daniels said. The trees are usually harvested at three to four years old. About 95 percent of the commercial Christmas trees produced in Mississippi are Virginia pine.

Daniels said the quality of Mississippi-grown Christmas trees compares favorably with those produced in other areas. He said prospective buyers this Christmas can expect prices to range from $2 to $4 per foot of tree, depending on quality and demand.

Drinking age hike prompts false ID use

GREENWOOD—The illegal manufacture and sale of drivers licenses to minors has resulted in an 18-year-old college freshman from Greenwood facing three counts of producing fraudulent Mississippi drivers licenses.

The Criminal Investigation Bureau (CIB) of the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol is warning persons who possess altered or fraudulently produced drivers licenses to turn them over to law enforcement authorities immediately.

"One person involved in manufacturing homemade licenses has been charged in this case and we are warning others who possess or use an illegal license that they, too, will be subject to arrest and prosecution," said Captain Ronnie White, commander of the Highway Patrol's Greenwood District.

An investigation begun in August into the manufacture of illegal licenses in the Greenwood area resulted in the youth being charged in Leflore County Youth Court, according to White.

"The subject has been charged with three counts of violating Section 63-1-60, Mississippi Code of 1972, Annotated, which prohibits the alteration or fraudulent use of a Mississippi driver's license and prohibits persons from fraudulently obtaining a driver's license," White said.

This offense is considered a misdemeanor under state law and persons convicted shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 or by imprisonment for not more than 30 days, or both fine and imprisonment.

Under federal law, Title 18, United States Code, Section 1028, it is a felony with conviction punishable by a fine of not more than $25,000 and imprisonment for not more than five years, or both fine and imprisonment.

"We are giving people the opportunity to mail or submit the fraudulently produced license to us without a penalty."

"However, if someone is found to have an altered license in his possession, they, too, will be subject to arrest," White continued.

James L. Roberts Jr., commissioner of public safety, is asking merchants to pay close attention when licenses are used as identification.

"Unfortunately, the main users of fraudulent licenses are young people," the commissioner said.

"Merchants and other business operators should contact the Highway Patrol, or municipal, county or federal authorities when they suspect that fraudulent licenses are being used by someone to obtain something he or she would otherwise be too young to obtain," Roberts said.

"This is a big burden to place on the business community but it is the only way we will know when and where illegal licenses are suspected of being used."

"We hope the production of fraudulent licenses is only a passing preoccupation of young people since the purchasing age for beer and light wine was increased to 21 about two months ago," the commissioner said.

"It may take a few arrests before people in the homemade license business realize the consequences of their actions," Roberts added.

As commissioner of public safety, Roberts' name appears on Mississippi drivers licenses and was duplicated to appear on the fraudulently manufactured licenses.

The student who was arrested had been charging $10 for each homemade license.

Three Gulfport residents were arrested by the Harrison County Sheriff's Office in early October on similar charges.

Diaster payments could be good news for farmers

The year has been filled with bad news for many Mississippi row crop farmers, but a disaster payment program enacted by Congress last month could bring good news to a number of state producers.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture recently announced counties currently eligible for Farmers Home Administration emergency loans also will be eligible for a crop disaster payments.

Dr. Bob Williams, head of the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service Agricultural Economics Department, said Mississippi farmers should get their share of the payments.

"The program will provide payments to farmers in disaster-affected counties to help offset 1986 losses," Williams said. "More than half of the counties in the state should be eligible for the payments because of low yields due to drought conditions."

Williams said a major portion of the $400 million allotted for the disaster payment program likely will be used in the South and Southeast sections of the nation.

"These parts of the country were hit hard by drought conditions this summer and many producers can claim crop disasters," Williams said. "In the Midwest growing conditions were better and many producers reported high yields."

Producers of wheat, feed grains, cotton and rice will be eligible for the disaster payments only if they participated in the 1986 production adjustment program for eligible crops.

Producers of non-program crops, such as soybeans, will be eligible for payments if they incurred losses because of natural disasters.

"Some of our soybean producers harvested only 12 to 15 bushels per acre," Williams said. "The biggest reason for these poor yields was the extremely dry weather during the growing season."

Complete eligibility requirements for the program are indefinite. USDA plans to later announce a complete list of non-program crops and the application date for the payments.

The disaster payments will be generic certificates, limited to $100,000 per farmer for program crops and another $100,000 for non-program crops.

Farmers requesting assistance will be asked to furnish acreage and production reports and evidence of yields for the past three years on most crops.

Oyster reefs ordered closed

The Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation and Bureau of Marine Resources has temporarily closed all oyster reefs in waters controlled by the State of Mississippi.

According to Ed Little of Bureau of Marine Resources, the closing was effective Wednesday and was announced under a directive from the State Board of Health.

Due to excessive rains, the fecal coliform bacterial count is at a level that could contaminate shellfish, Little said.

He added that he does not know yet when the reefs can be reopened for oyster harvesting.

Only three reefs had been opened this year. They include St. Stanislaus Reef, Waveland Reef and St. Joseph Reef.

Good food buys

Tofu adapts well to diets

Soybeans are not only livestock food but also are a source of high quality protein in numerous food products throughout the supermarket. Check the labels of some ordinary products the next time you shop.

Tofu (pronounced toe-foo) is a light, low calorie custard-like product made from soybean milk. It is a complete protein which is easy to digest and contains no cholesterol.

While tofu is nutritious, it is not just a food for health food followers. You don't have to be on a diet to enjoy the virtues of it. Like pasta and rice, tofu adapts well to almost any treatment you can offer.

Eat it fresh, steamed, broiled, baked, simmered, deep fried or stir fried. It is an excellent flavor absorber, making it ideal for many sauces and dressings. Its popularity begin in the Oriental countries, but with a little imagination it can take on an accent of Italian, Mexican, Hungarian or American cuisine.

In markets you'll find tofu in a simple off-white square in sealed packages or tubs displayed in the produce department. It may be the tender, custard type or the firm, bouncier Chinese curd. Both types can be used interchangeably in cooking. Generally, the firm type works better for cubing and frying and for long-cooking soups and stews. The soft tofu has a higher water content, is creamier and best for eating raw or as a creamy base for sauces.

One brick of tofu should keep up to two weeks if the water it is packed in is changed every day and it is kept refrigerated. The water prevents it from turning brown and forming a hard, inedible crust.

Tofu's bland taste enables it to be used in a variety of ways. Mixed with other ingredients and spices, it can be eaten as a main entrée or as an accompaniment to a meal.

One of tofu's biggest attributes is its low cost. Each pound of soybeans will yield as much as three pounds of tofu. The cost of a 16-ounce container runs between 89 cents and $1.69. Tofu can be prepared at home, reducing the cost by about two-thirds.

Tofu also is easily digested. Some contend that this increases its chances of becoming a major food item in the Western diet, where it may be used in hospitals, nursing homes and feeding programs for the elderly.

School systems in several states have incorporated tofu in their lunch programs. Response from children has been good.

So that tofu can be used in more lunch programs, the United States Department of Agriculture Food and Nutrition Service has developed specifications for using tofu in the National School Lunch Program and other child nutrition programs.

Tofu has the same marketing potential as yogurt. By utilizing it in school lunch programs, hospitals and American-style restaurants, it will, like yogurt, become part of the American diet.

The food also is a boon to dieters. A three and one-half ounce serving contains only 72 calories. And there are no empty calories in it. The same size serving contains 7.8 grams of protein, 4.2 grams of fat and 2.4 grams carbohydrates.

It is a good meat substitute because of its high protein content. With a usual protein content equal to that of chicken, an eight-ounce serving can provide 27 percent of the adult male's daily protein requirement. Combined with grains, eggs, cheese, seeds and nuts, its usable protein content increases. Tofu is also a good source of calcium.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1984-1B

George County nips SSC 59-56

It was a double victory for both the 7th and 8th Grade Rockchaw basketball teams as the 7th Grade defeated St. John 23-11 while the 8th Grade team prevailed 27-21.

Mickey Quinlan and Jason Lolacano had 15 and 10 rebounds, respectively, to control the boards and lead the 7th Grade team. Kendall Daniels contributed 10 points, while Quinlan had 7 points and Stephen Schruoff hit four free throws.

The defense of the 7th Grade team did not allow St. John to score more than four points in any quarter. At halftime the Rocks led 9-3, and outscored their opponents 14-8 in the second half to secure the victory.

In the 8th Grade game, the Rocks relied on Billy Saunders' 11-point output in their 27-21 win over the Eagles. Galen Smith, Scott Peterson, and Manning Montagnet each had four points for the Rockchaws.

For St. John, Bobby Niolet had eight points, and Mike Joubert and Robert Clifton each bagged four points. SSC's Galen Smith had six rebounds to lead all players.

The Rockchaw 8th Grade team led 14-6 at the half, but St. John exploded for 11 points in the 3rd Quarter to pull within two points of the Rocks, 19-17. In the final quarter Kendall Daniels, Galen Smith, and Billy Saunders totaled eight points to pull away from the Eagles and preserve a 27-21 victory.

Thursday afternoon the Rockchaw 8th and 9th Grade teams travel to Biloxi to play d'Iberville Warriors in a double-header. Tipoff for the 8th Grade game is 5 p.m.

Rocks' 7th and 8th Grade Teams in sweep at St. John

The St. Stanislaus Rockchaws rallied from an 11-point halftime deficit, but fell three points short as George County took a 59-56 district win in a ballgame played Monday evening in George County.

YaSin Shabazz and Louis Schruoff each had 15 points for the evening, while Steve Montagnet had 8 points, while John Gross and Josh Bowles each had six points.

George County's Kelvin Lawrence led all scorers with 20 points, while Eugene Estes contributed 11 points.

Regarded as one of the most talented teams in the district, George County jumped out to a 20-8 first quarter lead, and held a 36-25 halftime advantage over the Rocks. The Rockchaws cut the lead to eight points going into the final quarter, and shortened George County's lead due to spectacular defensive play of Shabazz and John Keller. Several missed layups and free throws proved to be the margin of difference in the contest.

The varsity Rockchaws, 1-3, participate in the Catholic Tournament held at St. John's in Gulfport beginning Thursday evening. On Thursday at 5:00 p.m. the Rocks will play Mercy Cross in the round-robin tournament. Friday the Rockchaws will face Our Lady of Victories, and will conclude Saturday evening with the Rocks playing host to St. John in the final game of the tournament.

In the preliminary Junior Varsity contest at George County Monday evening, the Rocks overcame a sluggish first half to trip George County 28-25.

Coach Jerry Spell's J.V. Rockchaws could only manage two points in the first quarter, and trailed George County 26-7 at halftime.

The Rocks closed the gap to within seven points in the third quarter, with George County leading 20-13.

Shane Sigsworth, Bert Dean, and Freddie Wirstrom had all of the Rockchaws 15 points in the final quarter, and among them sank seven-out-of-seven free throws to lead the Rocks in victory.

The Junior Varsity Rockchaws are now 4-0 and will resume play next week following the Catholic Tournament.

Wildlife Heritage Fund monies allotted to return eagles to Coast

The Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation and the U.S. Park Service launched a new cooperative effort Dec. 2 to return the bald eagle to its native range along the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

In a ceremony at the Gulf Islands National Seashore (GINS) in Ocean Springs, Joseph Gex of Bay St. Louis, chairman of the Commission on Wildlife Conservation, presented Jerry Eubanks, GINS superintendent, with a $6,000 check for the eagle project.

The project is the first nongame/endangered wildlife management project to receive monies from Mississippi Wildlife

Heritage Fund income tax donations.

The option of donating to the Wildlife Heritage Fund appeared on state income tax forms for the first time last year.

Almost $50,000 was raised through voluntary contributions of state tax refunds for the conservation and management of nongame wildlife, endangered species and unique natural areas.

A total of $11,300 has been designated from those funds for work associated with the eagle project.

The Park Service has already completed one season of eagle "backing" on Horn Island, just off the Mississippi coast. Hacking is the ancient falconry technique of raising young birds in cages on towers until they are ready to fly.

Biologists hope that young eagles will imprint on the barrier island area and will later return to nest. Mississippi's barrier islands and coastal areas are considered part of the bald eagle's native range.

Mississippians can donate to the Mississippi Wildlife Heritage Fund by designating part or all of their state income tax refund on Line 26 of their state tax form. Other donations can be made directly to the Wildlife Heritage Fund, P.O. Box 461, Jackson, MS 39205.

Ott shines in Raider opener

The Coast Episcopal Raiders basketball team played its first game of the season against Temple Baptist in the Bible Baptist Thanksgiving Tournament.

It was a closely contested game all the way with the Temple Baptist holding on at the end for a 42-36 victory.

Junior center Keith Ott got game high honors with 18 points and an excellent all around game.

Chris Riggs, point guard, did an excellent job controlling the ball and contributing 6 points.

The play of Brandon Smith, a 7th grader, was really encouraging. He helped control the tempo of the game and made several key baskets to keep the Raiders close, ending with 10 points for the game.

The Raiders next game is this Friday against Life Academy in New Orleans. On Saturday, they play Runnells Academy of Baton Rouge.

Brandon Smith (25) and Temple Baptist player set for action.

CEHS Lady Raider Basketball Team edged in holiday tourney

After an opening round win over Capital City Baptist, of Jackson, the Lady Raiders dropped two games by a combined total of 7 points.

In the second round game against Temple Baptist, Junior Katherine Smith led a balanced attack by scoring 10 points. Juniors Leah Salsbury scored 5 and Sharon Orlin scored 4.

Eighth grader Melissa Catron scored 4 points. Smith also had 12 blocked shots and 10 rebounds. However, Temple Baptist prevailed to win the game 29-25.

Third round action dealt the Coast cagers an even tougher defeat by the score 26-24 to the host team and eventual champion Bible Baptist. High scorers for the Lady Raiders were Katherine Smith 12 points, Junior Kristin Catron 7, Leah Salsbury 4 and Sharon Orlin 1.

The Lady Raiders travel to Baton Rouge for their first conference game against Runnells Academy on Saturday, Dec. 6 and on Dec. 8 for a game against Cornerstone Academy. Their first home game is Dec. 15 against Bible Baptist.

Wildcats dumped by third-ranked Pensacola Pirates

PENSACOLA—The Pearl River College Wildcats defeated seventh-ranked Hutchison Kansas Friday night and beat 16th ranked Panola, Texas Saturday to bring home a second place trophy from the Pensacola Junior College Tournament.

The Wildcats lost their first game of the tournament on Thanksgiving Day to the nationally third-ranked Pensacola Pirates 82-77, but bounced back Friday night and handed a 68-54 setback to Hutchison Junior College.

Freshmen Adrian McCray and Thomas Foster were the leading scorers in both Thursday and Friday's contests. McCray hit 20 points against the Pirates and Foster netted 17. McCray again led in points Friday hitting 16; Foster contributed 14.

In Saturday's game the Wildcats defeated Panola 85-76. McCray dominated the scoreboard by pumping in 22 points as the game's leading scorer. John Walker made 19 points for the 'Cats.

Wildcat head coach Peter Georgian said he was very pleased with the performance of his team.

The Wildcats will host the Pearl River College Coca-Cola Classic Tournament in the Marvin R. White Coliseum on the PRC campus this week.

The 'Cats are scheduled to take on Bozler City, Louisiana, Thursday at 8 p.m. and Lakeland, Ohio at 8 p.m. Friday. Saturday the 'Cats play Pensacola at 8 p.m.

The first games each day of the tournament begin at 4 p.m.

Melissa Catron (5) and Kristin Catron (25) head for the opponent's goal.

Sharon Orlin (53) and Blair Shellnut (13) maneuver into position.

SOLUNAR tables: do they really work?

The "Chartered Fishing Times" column in Bassmaster magazine by Dan Barnett "lists the periods" at which fish and wildlife are most active in search of food" — or so the angler would be led to believe. Are these solunar tables for real? Yes, and no.

Almost 50 years ago, John Alden Knight feverishly worked out the first solar/lunar tables for fish activity based on the changing positions of the sun and moon in relation to the earth.

The 163-page work was published in 1942 and titled Moon Up—Moon Down. The tables are charts that pinpoint the greatest gravitational effect of the sun and moon on earth, especially water, and proved to Knight conclusively that fish activity periods and oceanic tide times approximately coincided.

Most solunar tables printed in daily newspapers or shown on the nightly local news telecast highlight two major and two minor periods of feeding activity. The major period lasts between two and 3-1/2 hours; a minor one from 45 minutes to 1-1/2 hours. But whether more bass are caught during these periods is still a matter of conjecture.

"I have not been totally convinced either way; I'm a fence rider of that," states Ken Cook, Evinrude Outboards Pro Staff member. "I have seen times during stable weather conditions, in the summer particularly, that the solunar periods tend to work out pretty good."

The only thing that I have any data to back up any lunar type base with bass activity is that I know they spawn most actively during a full moon. That's the only data that I've seen that's statistically reliable about bass activity and moon phase."

"In my guiding on the lake in the last 10 years, in the summertime you can almost set your watch by it," states Randy Fite, Johnson Outboards Pro Staff member, of the solunar tables. "In the summertime, you don't have quite the number of variable coming into play, when your weather is very consistent day in and day out. Therefore, I feel the solunar tables play a very important role."

John Weiss, in his Advanced Bass Fishing, cautions about relying too heavily on the solunar tables. "But one thing I've discovered is that bass anglers all too often fall into the trap of relying too heavily upon the tables while discounting the importance of how bass live and move. The tables will not make you a better fisherman!"

John Knight, in compiling his statistics, saw that weather phenomena negatively influenced heightened fish activity during the major and minor periods, something which Weiss underlines in his book. He states that solunar tables "are only a forecast of the probable periods of activity, based upon gravitational influences of the sun and the moon, which may be expected to occur on any given day when weather and water conditions are stable." (Emphasis added.)

Noted bass journalist and author A.D. Livingston points out in his book Fishing For Bass his opinion that "I'm certain that those people who swear by the tables will indeed catch more bass during a major or minor (period). But I suggest that they probably fish harder and with more confidence during those periods."

In this year's Turkey Day match-ups: GREEN BAY AT DETROIT. Ah, the nostalgia of years gone by. This is the game I remember watching, just as the aroma from the kitchen filled the house. Everyone, then, was worried about what time dinner would be served rather than the score of the game. This year won't be different. Neither team excites much interest.

SEATTLE AT DALLAS Only because they are still America's team, the Cowboys have excellent home and Thanksgiving Day records. Seattle will try to disrupt both.

BOXING A lot of talk concerning the upcoming bout between Marvelous Marvin Hagler and Sugar Ray Leonard prompted me to take a closer look. A study of the facts shows that Leonard hasn't boxed in two years. Will that hurt him? Yes, I think his timing will be off. Even when he was in the ring in 1984, his jab wasn't the weapon it was earlier in his career. Leonard must not be concerned about his eye. If he goes into the ring protecting that, Hagler will be in a sparring match.

Livingston then goes on to the real meat of the matter: "It is, in my opinion, an error for the bassman to explain success or failure by whether or not the fish are biting. The better philosophy is that the bass will bite at any time of the day or night if the angler can locate them and present the right lure in the right way."

Whether this solunar theory makes any cosmic sense to you or not, my dad always had what I consider the best answer to this question: the right time to fish is anytime that you can get away to do it!

The service experts at Outboard Marine Corporation, parent firm of Johnson and Evinrude outboards, recommend a frequent check of the gearcase lubricant of all outboard motors. At the minimum, according to OMC, check the fluid in fall and spring, and add fluid if necessary. Always drain and refill the gearcase with the specified lube in the fall. If any water has worked its way into the gearcase during the summer, it could freeze, expand, and crack the case during the cold winter months. When you drain the fluid, check for water, metal filings, or a burned odor. Any of these could signal trouble and you should have the motor checked by a qualified technician as soon as possible.

Mississippi's school-age population will not grow as fast as a Southern Governors' Conference report projected, according to results of a study recently completed by the Social Science Research Center at Mississippi State University.

Sponsored by the state Department of Education, the SSRC studied patterns of growth and decline for school ages in Mississippi's population as an assessment of the widely circulated Southern Governors' report.

The SSRC study projects an overall growth of 9 percent for Mississippi for the decade, with a total population forecast of about 2.7 million residents by 1990, according to Dr. Frank Howell, author of the MSU study. The U.S. Census Bureau counted around 2.5 million Mississippians in 1980.

"All segments of the school-age population, however, will not change evenly during the decade as preschoolers (0-5 years) will grow by about 11 percent while others will decline."

Those declining school groups include elementary (6-13 years), by -1.5 percent; secondary (14-17 years), by -10.8 percent; and college-age (18-24 years), by -1.1 percent.

Howell said the "Baby Boom" of the 1940s and '50s has caused a difference in trends between the first and last halves of the decade.

"Between 1980 and 1985, elementary school children have declined statewide by about 3.7 percent, but they will increase by 2.3 percent during the last half of the decade," Howell said. He added, "And, while the college-age segment increased by 5.3 percent during the first half, the 18- to 24-year-old group is projected to dwindle by 6.1 percent between 1985 and 1990.

Howell said the growth statistics used in several reports, including the one released by the Southern Governors' Conference, are based upon forecasts prepared in 1980-81 by the Harvard-MIT Joint Center for Urban Studies. These studies now appear to be inaccurate for Mississippi, according to Howell. The Southern governors' report showed projected increases in the Mississippi school-age population, 5-17 years, during the period of 1985 to 1990 of 23.9 percent and from 1985 to the year 2000 of 57.8 percent.

"These projected growth rates for Mississippi were significantly higher than the national average (5.3 percent and 18.2 percent, respectively) or any of the other states in the Deep South, and were among the highest in the nation," Howell said.

He explained the Harvard-MIT projections were "best guesses" at the time they were made, but "they were not able to anticipate the turnaround in Mississippi's migration pattern which seems to have gone from positive in the late 1970s to negative during the 1980s."

The difference between the Harvard-MIT and MSU SSRC population forecasts for the state is about 24 percent, largely because of the difference in migration patterns.

Another contributing factor in the discrepancy is that the Harvard-MIT projections used an estimate of fertility that is higher than what seems to be occurring in Mississippi, Howell said.

"The MSU Social Science Research Center projections make use of both annually updated migration estimates and the sex-and-age structure of the state's population as estimated by the National Center for Health Statistics," he explained.

Some Mississippi counties, in turn, are targeted to be either high loss or high growth areas in certain segments of their school-age population between 1985 and 1990. A high loss or gain means 10 percent or more in the study.

Counties with high growth profiles include Hancock, Lamar, Pearl River, Rankin, Stone (in total population); Hancock, Lamar, Madison, Marion, Marshall, Pearl River, Rankin, Stone, Sunflower, Wayne, Wilkinson (in pre-school population); and Clairborne, Forrest, Oktibbeha, and Stone (in secondary school population). A total of 44 counties, ranging from Adams to Yazoo, are projected to grow significantly in the college segment of the population.

Howell said the SSRC's study urges the state Department of Education to periodically seek current estimates and five-year forecasts of the state's school-related population.

"This monitoring of trends in Mississippi's school-relevant population will aid in the forming of emerging education programs, such as those now focusing on adult illiteracy, and for meeting the goals and objectives of the 'Five-Year Plan for Educational Improvement,'" Howell said.

The Five-Year Plan is the outline for implementing the Educational Reform Act of 1962.

Junior Tigers defeat Ocean Springs

The Bay Junior High Tiger basketball team beat Ocean Springs 72-58 Monday to give the Tigers a 3-0 record.

"It was a team effort. Everyone played really well," Head Coach Gary Blaize said.

"We've had basically the same team for two years and they play really well together. There is a lot of closeness and togetherness."

"Even the boys on the bench have played a major part in us being 3-0."

They come off the bench and do a good job and show a lot of enthusiasm when they're not on the court. The other night it was like they were out there because they were really into the game."

Leading scorer was Micah Necaise with 37 points. Blaize said 37 is a high score for a junior high player.

"It's unusual for a junior high player to score that much in one game. It has only been done a few times over the last few years and Necaise came close to the highest I've seen. That was about 41," the coach said.

Heath Hopgood followed Necaise with 16 points and Cedric Walker was third with 13.

"Walker did a good job on the boards, on rebounding. He had 16 for the game," Blaize said.

Emmanuel Antoine also was successful on rebounds with nine for the St. Stanislaus to administer placement test

Brother Paul Montero, principal of St. Stanislaus High School, reports the school will administer its placement test for incoming day students for the 1987-88 school session at 9 a.m. Saturday in the school's resource center.

Students wishing to take this placement test should contact the school office at 467-9057 prior to the Dec. 8 testing.

St. Stanislaus, a boarding and day school for boys, has a non-discriminatory policy and accepts students regardless of race, creed, and color.

Tenants insurance

By Karen L. Moore
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

Apartment dwellers often receive a rude awakening to the real world when they find out their stolen possessions aren't covered under their landlord's or parents' insurance.

This is a common misconception, especially among younger people, such as college students, those just beginning to work and young marrieds, said Beverly S. Riggs, a family economics and management specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

"Some college students mistakenly believe that as long as they are still economically dependent on their parents, their possessions in an apartment are covered under their parents' homeowners policy," Ms. Riggs said.

And a landlord's insurance policy covers only the building, not the tenant's possessions.

To provide coverage for personal possessions, insurance companies sell special policies, called tenants coverage. Almost any amount of coverage can be purchased.

Tenants coverage includes items such as personal property, loss from fire, lightning or theft, liability, legal costs if the policyholder is sued and a living expense allowance if the policyholder is displaced, Ms. Riggs said.

Personal property includes items such as furniture, other household things and clothing.

Liability coverage protects the policyholder, a dependent or a pet if one of them causes someone else to be injured. It also protects the policyholder if he or a dependent causes someone else to be injured at a location other than the apartment, Ms. Riggs said.

There are limits as to how much the policy pays for each point of coverage, such as legal costs.

The coverage for living expenses while the policyholder is displaced includes only the difference above the policyholder's normal living expenses.

When deciding how much coverage to buy, tenants shouldn't underestimate the value of their possessions.

"Many people simply do not realize the value of their possessions," Ms. Riggs said. "As inexpensive as tenants insurance is, it is wise to buy enough coverage."

The best way to determine the value of your possessions is to use store receipts from purchases and take pictures of all possessions. Store the pictures in a location separate from the apartment.

Keep a written record of all possessions in an inventory book. Frank Chiles, a State Farm agent in Starkville, suggested updating the record annually. Store this book in a location separate from the apartment.

When buying tenants insurance, it is important to understand the difference between coverage for actual cash value or the replacement cost. The difference is a lot of coverage.

Coverage for actual cash value is less expensive because it pays only the actual cash value of the possessions at the time of loss. Replacement cost pays what it would cost to replace the possessions like new at the time of loss.

"For tenants with many old possessions, replacement cost would be wise, since actual cash value of very old things would not provide much of a settlement to buy new things," Ms. Riggs said.

Wal-Mart research shows Waveland ideal for new store

BENTONVILLE, Ar.—Plans are underway to open a Wal-Mart Discount department store in Waveland.

The 65,930 square foot store will be located on US-90 and Nicholson Avenue and is expected to open in early 1988. Construction is scheduled to begin in the summer of 1987.

"We are extremely excited about our plans to open a store in Waveland," said David Glass, president.

"We do a significant amount of research each time we look at a potential new store location and feel, based on that research, that Waveland presents an ideal opportunity to service the area with Wal-Mart's brand of retailing. We hope to be a factor in the city's growth and development for a long time to come."

Glass said Wal-Mart stores are designed as one-stop family shopping centers featuring a variety of merchandise in 36 departments including housewares, recreational supplies, household supplies, family clothing, electronic and stereo supplies, pet care and health and beauty aid.

Customers may choose to take advantage of Visa or Mastercard. Layaway plans will be available. The Waveland store also will offer a garden center.

Glass also stated that approximately 120 jobs will be added to the Waveland community upon the store's opening. There are currently more than 130,000 Wal-Mart associates nationwide. Interested

THIS WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

Weekly Tip: A new outlook creates new attitudes.

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 19) A perpetually peppy person threatens to become a problem this holiday season. It could be he or she is lonely. Take time to talk together.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) Continue to be as generous and kind as you usually are. Your efforts bring joy to people who might otherwise face a bleak holiday.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) Admit it. You've been too busy to pay much attention to kids and kin. But holiday time gives you a great excuse for making up for lost time.

Cancer (June 21-July 22) The wider you cast your social nets this holiday, the more chances you have to find the new romantic experience that lies waiting to be claimed.

Leo (Jul. 23-Aug. 22) Once again, the social lion appears as the holiday season begins. Expect to see a continued 150 in your personal aspect.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A perplexing problem winds down to where it's hardly noticeable during this busy time. Concentrate your efforts on more rewarding activities.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) A bold venture begins to pay off more handsomely than expected. You not only gain material profits, but garner new respect, even from former detractors.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) A sensitive person understands your needs and reaches out to establish a strong link between you. Respond in kind and enjoy this special friendship.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Friendships you once thought were lost forever are given new life as you move among old friends and renew your feelings for one another.

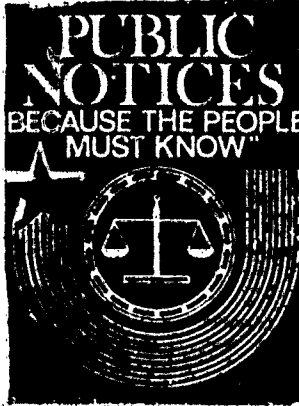

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Pace yourself. You have a longer road to run than you thought. You're in for a longer, but very rewarding, holiday season.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:
The Federal Emergency Management Agency gives notice of the proposed determinations of modified base (100-year) flood elevations, in accordance with Section 110 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (Pub. These elevations, together with the floodplain management measures required by Section 60.3 of the program regulations, are the minimum that are required. They should not be construed to mean the community must change any existing ordinances that are more stringent in their floodplain management requirements. The community may at any time enact stricter requirements on its own, or pursuant to policies established by other Federal, State, or regional entities. These proposed elevations will also be used to calculate the appropriate flood insurance premium rates for existing buildings and their contents and for the second layer of insurance on existing buildings and their contents.

Pursuant to the provisions of 5 USC 665(b), the Administrator, to whom authority has been delegated by the Director, Federal Emergency Management Agency, hereby certifies that the proposed flood elevation determinations, if promulgated, will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. A flood elevation determination under section 1363 forms the basis for new local ordinances, which, if adopted by a local community, will govern future construction within the floodplain area. The elevation determinations, however, impose no restriction unless and until the local community voluntarily adopts floodplain ordinances in accordance with these elevations. Even if ordinances are adopted in compliance with Federal standards, the elevations prescribe how high to build in the floodplain and do not prescribe development. Thus, this action only forms the basis for future local actions. It imposes no new requirement; of itself it has no economic impact.

Proposed base flood elevations along flood sources studied in detail are shown on the Preliminary Revised FIRM. Lessees and owners of real property in the Unincorporated Areas of Hancock County, Mississippi are encouraged to review these maps and related materials at the address cited above. The flood sources studied in detail are:

entries in the parade, which featured floats, marchers, the Keeler Air Force Base Drum and Bugle Corps and Santa and Mrs. Claus.

LIGHTS—Santa Claus raises his arms as a signal to light the Christmas tree on the lawn of the Hancock County Courthouse. Dignitaries on hand for the lighting ceremony included Board of Supervisors President A.A. Kellar, Bay St. Louis Mayor Victor Frankiewicz Jr. and Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr.

Bay High to incorporate new drinking and driving program into curriculum

Bay Senior High School is incorporating a new drinking and driving program into its driver education curriculum.

The program entitled "The Deadly Combination: Drinking and Driving," was developed by the Mississippi Alcohol Safety Education Program through a grant from the Governor's Office of Federal/State Programs.

The State Department of Education assisted in the development and implementation of the program manual. Also, the staff of Drug Research and Education Association of Mississippi (DREAM) made suggestions concerning various aspects of the program manual.

Willie Bradley, Bay Senior High driver education instructor, recently attended a mini-workshop conducted by Wyatt Tullos, supervisor of driver and safety education, State Department of Education; Monty Parker of the Governor's Highway Safety Program, and Douglas Mantion, supervisor of Driver Training, State Department of Education, to provide teachers of driver education in Mississippi with the necessary information and approaches to teach the relationship of alcohol/drugs and traffic safety to driver education students.

Willie Bradley received a program manual, a tape and slides at the workshop to be utilized in the implementation of the program.

Each year highway accidents result in about 55,000 deaths. More than 50 percent of these fatal crashes involve drunk drivers. One in every 50 automobiles on the road is operated by an intoxicated driver.

Although less evidence is available regarding use of drugs other than alcohol by drivers, a large portion of the population uses a wide range of drugs that have the potential to impair driving behavior.

The problem of a driver's use of alcohol and other drugs is serious and various attempts have been made to deal with this situation.

For instance, laws regarding drunk driving have been made more stringent and their enforcement stricter in order to get problem drinkers and drunk drivers off the road.

Research is underway to find methods of testing for the presence of other drugs in drivers and the effects thereof. Rehabilitation and other social services have been provided for those who need help. Despite these efforts, the highway death toll remains one of the nation's worst tragedies.

To inform the public about the dangerous impact of alcohol and other drugs on traffic safety, various educational programs have been organized. Young drivers are the primary target of these efforts because they are involved in a large portion of accidents.

Because of their lack of knowledge or understanding of what alcohol and other drugs can do to them, young, inexperienced drivers are prone to traffic accidents which could have been prevented.

Although drunk driving is a problem that pervades in all age groups of our licensed population, it is especially severe for teenagers.

The combination of learning how to drive, youthful risk-taking behavior and drinking is accounting for the number one killer of teenagers in this country.

The new program resource manual was developed to provide instructors and students with reliable and scientifically validated information about alcohol and other drugs with the expected result that adequate knowledge of alcohol and other drugs, their effects on individuals and the driving task can help reduce or prevent tragedies and make highways safer.

A goal of the program is to provide information on alcohol, other drugs, decision-making and peer pressure which will give the students alternatives to becoming involved with alcohol and other drugs.

Children having children

Teen pregnancies
have high social costs

By Karen L. Moore
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

MISSISSIPPI STATE—Mississippi leads the nation in the number of teenage pregnancies, and high teen birth rates are a concern to society as well as the teenage mothers and their children.

"Children having children is an epidemic social problem affecting us all," said Norine Barnes, a child and family development specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

Even if we don't know a teen mother, the social costs of teen pregnancies affect us all because these young families are often poor and depend on government assistance, Mrs. Barnes said.

It is estimated an average of $15,000 will be spent on a child of a teen pregnancy before the child reaches age 20, according to Vital Statistics, an annual report from the Mississippi Department of Health.

In Mississippi more than 21 percent of all babies are born to teens, compared to 13.7 percent nationwide.

An estimated 50 percent of all teens are sexually active and about half of all teen pregnancies occur in the first six months of sexual activity.

Mrs. Barnes said the media with its abundance of sexual messages through song lyrics, music videos, movies, TV shows and commercials, and parents who fail to monitor their children's use of the media must share in the blame for the high teen pregnancy rate.

"Put this together with the fact that girls mature earlier than they did 50 years ago and you have a dangerous combination," she said.

However, she said the root of teen pregnancy is teens' lack of life goals and lack of self-respect. Teens may have an unhappy home life or believe no one loves them.

"Self-respect, strong moral values and life goals are the best weapons against teen pregnancies," she said.

"We have to convince our teens that they are worth something.

"We have to provide the support that some teens aren't getting at home. Life is very difficult for a young person who has no one to encourage him and no job to look forward to."

Peer pressure and curiosity about sex are other factors that cause teen pregnancies.

Mrs. Barnes said research findings show sex education classes alone do not significantly alter the use of birth control, frequency of intercourse or pregnancy rates. But sex education classes that also teach teens to understand their own sexuality are effective.

These classes reduce incidents of sexual exploitation and premarital sex, improve teens' self-esteem and relationships with their peers and help teens explore their own values and morals, she said.

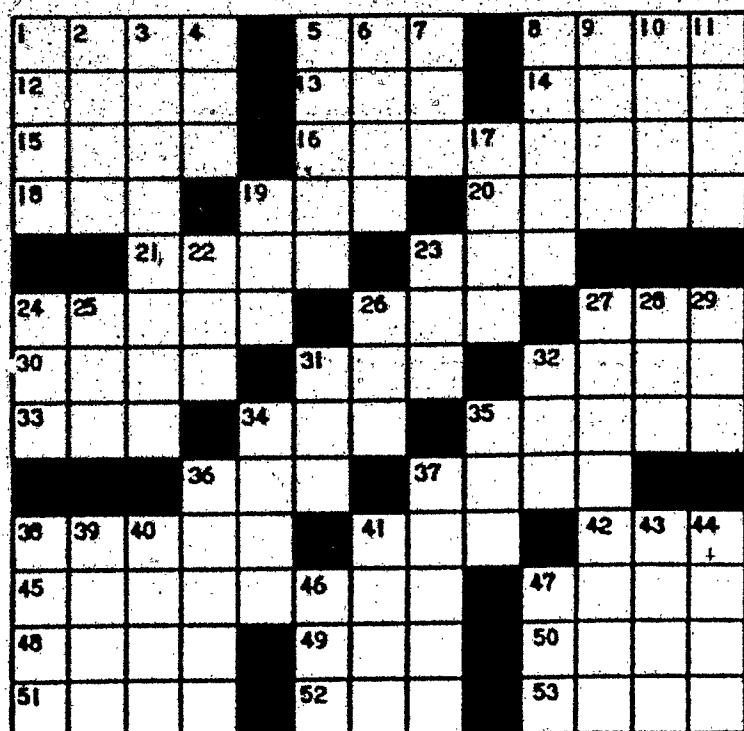

Early parenthood often locks the young family into a life of low and dependable income, interrupted education and divorce. Eighty percent of all 16- and 17-year-old mothers never finish high school. For those who marry, their husbands also often face interrupted educations and low-paying jobs.

Statistics show a 90 percent unemployment rate among girls who dropped out of high school after giving birth between the ages of 15 and 17. Seventy-two percent are on welfare.

Divorce rates are more than twice as high as for those who postpone childbearing until their 20s. A greater incidence of wife and child abuse occurs in teen marriages.

Teens' babies also are likely to show delayed intellectual development.

"This is because teen parents are not mature enough to give the baby the kind of care and stimulation the baby needs," Mrs. Barnes said. "Teens underestimate the amount of time and care a baby takes. Although these teens are parents, they still want the freedom they used to have with their friends."

Birthday celebration enhances Disney World's holiday presentations

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla.—Combining all the special shows of both its 15th Birthday and the Christmas holidays, Walt Disney World is putting on its biggest Yule celebration.

Yuletide visitors will be winning birthday prizes every 15 seconds daily as guests pass through the turnstiles of the Magic Kingdom and Epcot Center. Daily prizes include a brand-new Chevrolet Cavalier or S-10 pickup, a three-night Premier Cruise, collectible pins and Walt Disney World tickets.

Daily performances of the Christmas edition of the "15th Birthday Parade" will fill the Magic Kingdom with seasonal magic while "Holiday Splendor" starring Carol Lawrence sparks the Christmas Spirit at Epcot Center.

Mickey Mouse has a full entertainment schedule during the season to be jolly starting in "Mickey's T'was the Night Before Christmas," "A Sparkling Christmas Spectacular," and "Fifteen Years of Magic" in the Magic Kingdom.

Epcot Center also will feature encore performances of its aeronautical spectacle, "Skyline Spectacular," in addition to showings of "Laserphonic Fantasy."

On Dec. 3, the guitar-plucking, fun-loving cast of the Country Bear Jamboree begins singing a different tune in "A Country Bear Christmas Special" at Frontierland's Grizzly Hall.

The famous menagerie of "Audio Animatronics" musical performers will bring a mirthful Nashville twang to traditional and not-so-traditional Christmas music through Jan. 5.

The 15th Birthday edition of the Walt Disney World Very Merry Christmas Parade makes its 1986 debut Dec. 6 and 7. The anniversary showing combines the dress up and boogie performances of the 15th Birthday Parade with favorite Christmas settings. It will be presented daily from Dec. 20 through Jan. 1.

On Christmas Day, Joan Lunden and Ben Vereen will host a special telecast of the parade on ABC-TV. The 90-minute special will be broadcast at 10 a.m. EST and PST, 9 a.m. CST, and 8 a.m. RMST.

"Mickey's T'was the Night Before Christmas" premieres on Tomorrowland Stage Thanksgiving Day and runs through Christmas Day.

Debating Dec. 20 and continuing through Dec. 30, Cinderella Castle is the stage for "A Sparkling Christmas Spectacular," a richly orchestrated, lavishly choreographed and elaborately costumed holiday special starring Scrooge McDuck and a rather "Goofy" Santa Claus among a cast of nearly 300.

Daily through Dec. 19, Cinderella Castle is also the setting for "15 Years of Magic," a new song-and-dance show featuring spectacular illusions that have the Disney characters appearing out of thin air and exiting the stage in the same way.

Fantasyland features a special yule version of Fantasy Follies Dec. 12 through Jan. 1. Disney characters decorate Fantasy Faire with "moosetoe" in a song and dance salute to the holidays.

At 10 p.m. Nov. 28-29 and Dec. 25-30, Tinkerbell flies from Cinderella Castle heralding "Fantasy in the Sky" fireworks which light up the Magic Kingdom sky in a multi-colored pyrotechnic display. Midnight is launch time New Year's Eve.

The traditional Town Square Christmas tree, a towering Douglas fir 65 feet tall and ablaze with more than 5,000 multi-colored lights, becomes part of the Magic Kingdom scenery—literally overnight—Dec. 2. The same elfin magic also happens at Epcot Center and in the Walt Disney World Village. Nightly Dec. 2-24, the Magic Kingdom features a Christmas Tree Lighting.

Other special events in the Magic Kingdom include the traditional Candlelight Procession featuring a 1,000 voice choir (Dec. 6-7) and Mickey's Very Merry Christmas Party (Dec. 13 from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m.). "Holiday Splendor," with Carol Lawrence and a cast of 100—including a live orchestra and the World Dancers—premieres Dec. 13 at Epcot Center's America Gardens by the Shore. The musical special celebrating winter holidays throughout the world will also be presented Dec. 14, 17-23 and 25-30.

Yule performances of the dazzling "Skyline Spectacular" aeronautical spectacle will take place on the World Showcase Lagoon at 2 p.m. Dec. 6-7, 13-14, 20-21, 24-31 and Jan. 3-4. Purple-winged dragons and squadrons of seaplanes and hang gliders become sky-painters filling the air with rainbow colors.

The nighttime "Laserphonic Fantasy" with its dramatic symphony of darting laser images, dancing water fountains and dazzling fireworks takes place on the World Showcase Lagoon each Saturday as well as Nov. 28 and Dec. 6, 13, and 20-23 and 25-29 at 10 p.m. December 30 and 31, the show is at 11:45 p.m.

In the Walt Disney World Village, the Living Nativity is staged three times nightly Dec. 2-7, 9-14, and 16-23 and twice on Dec. 24. December hours in the Magic Kingdom are: 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Dec. 1-5, 8-12, 14-19 and Dec. 24; 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Dec. 13; 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Dec. 20-21; 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Dec. 6-7 and 22-23; 8 a.m. to midnight Dec. 25-30; and 8 a.m. to 2 a.m. Dec. 31. It is open 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Jan. 1-3.

Epcot Center operating hours in December are 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Dec. 1-19; 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Dec. 20-21; 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Dec. 22-23; 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Dec. 24; 8 a.m. to midnight Dec. 25-30; and 8 a.m. to 1 a.m. Dec. 31. Epcot Center is open 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Jan. 1-3.

Episcopal High elects council officers

Student Council Officers were recently elected at Coast Episcopal High School for the 1986-87 school year. Elected as president was senior Ginger Gilmore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Gilmore of Bay St. Louis. She is head cheerleader and was the 1986 recipient of the Martha Guild of Trinity Church Good Citizenship Award.

Other officers elected were vice-president, senior, Henry Furr of Ocean Springs, treasurer, junior, Cody Hargrave of Gulfport, and secretary, junior, Lauren Gilson of Waveland.

The Student Council is sponsored by history and government teacher Miss Linda McCulloch.

Various spring activities are being planned including a trip to Ship Island.

Just a little antifreeze deadly to cats and dogs

MISSISSIPPI STATE—A little touch of carelessness added to a common wintertime chore can produce a deadly result for your dog and cat.

Winter is when most people remember to check the antifreeze in their cars. But most people don't realize what a deadly poison antifreeze is to pets, said Dr. Steven Fox, assistant professor of veterinary medicine at Mississippi State University.

"The ethylene glycol common in antifreeze is extremely deadly to animals," Fox said. "It takes only about one-third of an ounce of antifreeze to kill a cat. Twice that amount will poison a dog."

Making potential poisoning even more of a problem is the fact that pets seem to like the taste of antifreeze and will seek it out, Fox said.

Fox said it is easy to spill enough antifreeze when refilling a cooling system to kill a dog or cat. A radiator that leaks or boils over also is deadly even though the antifreeze may be diluted with water.

Ethylene glycol affects mostly the kidneys, Fox said. A few hours after ingesting antifreeze the animal may vomit, stagger, pant and have a rapid heart beat.

"One of the biggest problems with antifreeze poisoning is that the animal may return to normal within 12 hours," Fox said. "But more serious signs follow within 24 hours after ingestion."

These signs include more vomiting, reduced appetite, dehydration, overall weakness and incoordination, convulsions and coma before death. Animals that survive longer than 24 to 36 hours develop irreversible kidney problems.

Since all of these symptoms happen in a relatively short period, it's important for the veterinarian to first know that the animal has consumed antifreeze and also how long it has been since the antifreeze was ingested.

"The treatment varies at different stages," Fox said. "For the vet to really know what to do, he needs to know how long it's been since the animal has ingested antifreeze. The timing is critical."

If you know your pet has gotten into antifreeze, take it to the vet immediately and tell him all he needs to know. It may be possible to save the animal depending on how much antifreeze it has consumed.

"But the best way to protect your pets is to be very careful not to let animals get into antifreeze in the first place," Fox said.

The easiest, cheapest and surest way to protect your pets from antifreeze poisoning is to take the extra care and time to wipe up spills and hose down places where the radiator leaks or boils over. Also, keep pets out of garages and other areas where antifreeze is stored.

FULL SCHOLARSHIP—Joseph (Joey) Bontemps, son of Mrs. Corinne Bontemps of Bay St. Louis, is holder of a full scholarship to the University of Stuttgart, Germany, awarded by The German Academic Exchange Service. Bontemps is currently engaged in solar engineering research at the university. He is a 1976 graduate of St. Stanislaus High School in Bay St. Louis. He took a bachelor's degree in chemical engineering at Ole Miss in 1983 and a master's in chemistry in 1986.

Ten goals established in Pass schools

The Pass Christian Schools use an objectives approach to educational management in which goals and objectives are important starting points that give direction and meaning to the management process.

The management process involves the formulation of goals and objectives, winning commitment of personnel to them, providing resources for achievement of the goals and objectives, and managing to obtain the desired results.

Annually the school district develops and adopts district goals which the district should strive to achieve during the school year. These goals are formulated during the months preceding the finalization of the school district budget.

Each school district administrator and supervisor also develops goals and objectives based upon the district goals and objectives and upon specific areas of responsibility as established in their job descriptions. Also, teachers and other staff work cooperatively with their building administrators in the development of annual goals and objectives.

The school board, community, staff and students are involved in the establishment of long range goals and objectives that the district should be striving to attain. They are also involved in evaluating the school and district's performance in attainment of the goals and objectives.

After district goals have been established and evaluation of current attainment of the goals completed, the needs of the district are determined. The needs are then translated into school programs or curriculum and the allocation of necessary resources to support the programs or curriculum.

Priority statements which receive five or more affirmative votes were listed on a tentative list of objective statements. The school district administrators and supervisors each distributed 100 points over the tentative objective statements.

A tentative objective statement could receive as few as no points or a maximum of ten points. Point values for each tentative objective statement were recorded. A list of objective statements in priority order was prepared based upon the aggregate point total for each priority. The objective statements receiving the highest aggregate totals were determined to be the highest district priority statements and the objective statements receiving the lowest number of points were determined to be the lowest priority. Using this methodology, the following ten goals were determined and adopted for the 1986-87 school year:

1. Continue to improve the district's systems of communication with all publics.
2. Attain a rating of 3 or each standard of the performance based accreditation standards.
3. Find alternative legal ways to deal with disruptive special education students.
4. Increase academic expectations for all students.
5. Develop programs and strategies to decrease the incidence of drugs and disruptive behavior in the schools.
6. Increase cooperation with local groups and businesses that can enhance education with respect to the world of work and work toward the involvement of more citizens and community members in the schools.
7. Computerize administrative and teaching tasks.
8. Devise and implement appropriate performance appraisal systems for all employees.
9. Provide guidance services and programs at the elementary levels.
10. Provide equalized school time for elementary students, grades K-4.

If you're sick, you go to the doctor, right?

Alcoholism and drug addiction are sicknesses. And doctors at Bienville and Pine Grove Recovery Centers, backed by Forrest General Hospital, offer a proven method of treatment.

Bienville and Pine Grove Recovery Centers' proven treatment for alcoholism and drug addiction is implemented by (l. to r.) Drs. Clayton Cook, Ivan Peacock, William Fellows, Robert Schmidt, and Doyle Smith (seated).

Since it opened in June...

Bienville Recovery Center has offered treatment—and hope—for the chemically dependent and their families. The Biloxi center's program is based on the highly successful approach of its sister Recovery Center in Hattiesburg, Pine Grove.

Doyle P. Smith, M.D., Director of Bienville and Pine Grove, is a nationally recognized authority on the treatment of alcoholism and drug addiction. The two centers' full-time staffs also include five medical doctors, a consulting psychiatrist and psychologist, nurses, counselors, and aftercare coordinators, all trained in the treatment of chemical dependency.

A working relationship

Bienville and Pine Grove have more than just experience and skill in common. They also share a successful doctor-directed chemical dependency treatment program. And dedicated and experienced physicians and staffs trained in chemical dependency. And the experience and facilities of Forrest General Hospital.

Forrest General is the largest, most complete health care facility in South Mississippi. And the association between Bienville, Pine Grove, and Forrest General means that the Recovery Centers have access to all the facilities, personnel, and specialists available at Forrest General.

More families trust Forrest General

Over the years, more families have chosen Forrest General Hospital than any other South Mississippi hospital. And now Bienville and Pine Grove Recovery Centers are earning that same trust for treatment of chemical dependency. If you or someone you know suffers from this highly treatable disease, call Bienville Recovery Center, Biloxi, or Pine Grove Recovery Center, Hattiesburg, affiliated with Forrest General Hospital, your complete health care center.
